Make Bid For Fame, Fortune

Three local girls made their first bid toward fame and fortune Tuesday by recording a double disc record for Chess Records in New Orleans.

Calling themselves "The Trebels," Sylvia Tamplin, 15 year old Lakeshore lass, Carolyn Johnson 14, and Carol Johnston, 16, Bay St. Louis, do original numbers in the Rhythm and Blues style.

The two numbers recorded by the trio Tuesday were composed, lyrics and music, by Sylvia. One side of the record is "You Only You" with the reverse number "You Make Me Crazy Baby."

Students of Bay High, it was during the last school term, the group began singing and making music together. At the start there were six girls. Three dropped from the ranks, but the Trebels continued. Sylvia plays the piano, but only when they practice. For recording they were accompanied by instrumentalists from several well known Rhythm and Blues Bands, including Fats Domino, Little Richard and Paul Gayton.

The girls had additional thrills in the city Thursday. Bobby Charles, Louisiana lad who has reached fame via recordings of his "See You Later Alligator," had the young ladies in tow.

They have acquired the same manager who steered Charles to fame among the Rock 'n' Roll stars, Charles (Dago) Redlich of Crowley, saw to it that the girls signed a year's contract with the recording company in New Orleans. They will receive royalties on all recordings made by them, and will continue to have cut their original compositions.

While they do mostly the rhythm and blues type of music, Sylvia told this reporter in an interview, that they also do other types of singing and composing.

They are currently working on two new numbers, and plan to record them shortly.

It only takes one song to make a name, and it may be that these three girls will be setting musical styles for the youth of the nation in a very short time.

Since all three were under legal age, contracts were signed for them by their parents.

And then to end a thrilling day, they were driven back to Bay St. Louis, by See You Later Alligator, Charles himself.

Blood Bank Meet Friday Night

Little Theater Has Honor Of Presenting N. O. Play

The Little Theatre, after an exciting interlude, during which they had the honor of presenting to a far too small audience—a magnificent production of "Anastasia," brought here by the Petit Theatre du Vieux Carre, has resumed rehearsals of the "Rainmaker." This play, by Richard Nash, was originally shown on television then fashioned to a Broadway hit. It is a romantic drama, with enough caustic humor to offset its occasional moment of whimsy, and a warmth and feeling that lasts long after the final curtain.

The cast of the "Rainmaker" includes some of our old proven stars, and several potential new ones. Barbara Quigley plays the only female role and C. D. Blair and Phil Allison appear in minor parts. The newcomers are Don Caldwell, George Kelly, Raymond Clifton and Bill Argus, all of whom are proving to be a director's delight. In fact, Director Louise Blair, who is directing "The Rainmaker" is beginning to wonder if they weren't all type cast. She has been heard to remark, off the record, of course, that Bill really should have been a "con" man, instead of the fine, upstanding citizen that he has always seemed to be.

The play will be presented at the Little Theatre on June 14, 15 and 16th and is the second of the regular scheduled plays.

Eighth Annual Observance Of Hospitality Month

Jackson, Miss. (Special)—The eighth annual observance of "Hospitality Month" throughout Mississippi in June was proclaimed today by Governor J. P. Coleman, chairman of the sponsoring Mississippi Agricultural and Industrial Board.

Meantime, the Travel Department of the Board announced that close to 70 Mississippi communities have organized Community Travel Development Committees to carry out individual programs during the month in their respective cities and towns.

Governor Coleman, speaking as chairman of the Board, urges "all communities, our citizens, the various organizations of Mississippi, the local and state officials to take part in this program of activities."

Although no official statewide "Miss Hospitality" contest will be held this year, the Board revealed that many communities will continue electing a representative young lady from their community to serve at the local level.

Emphasis this year is being placed on a statewide Community Travel Development Contest, and winners in three population classifications will receive $500 cash prizes for community sponsored programs for the entire year. Judging will follow the "Hospitality Month" observance.

The Board's Travel Department already has furnished local committees with information materials, contest entry blanks and has offered them bumper stickers for use in tagging tourist cars stopped at "Hospitality Centers."

Colorful "Hospitality Month" billboard posters also have been furnished to the Mississippi Outdoor Advertising Association, which has donated more than 120 billboards throughout the state to call attention to the observance.

DR. C. M. SHIPP GIVES VALUABLE POLIO INFORMATION

Information from County Health Doctor C. M. Shipp gives the valuable information that 90% of the children of a community must be vaccinated to assure protection against infectious or transmissible diseases.

In the Hancock County Polio Control Program the county Health Department has vaccinated 2,074 children in the total group (4,684) of school children and pre-school children. In this group, 2,074 received the first shot, 1,519 received the second shot. Those children who have received the second shot have ample protection against this dread disease, but in this group there are still 555 who have not yet received the second shot.

In Hancock County there are 4,684 children eligible for polio vaccine. The Health Department has ample vaccine for these children.

"Vaccination cannot be forced on any child. The responsibility rests with parents," Dr. Shipp said. "The length of time this vaccine will protect the child is still unknown, but it is far greater than was expected at the beginning of the program. Children in the field trials of the 1953-54 vaccinations are still protected. How much longer this protection will last we do not know. Tests are still being made on this group."

Father Paul Keenan, M. S. S. T. of Kiln has been heard weekly during the past year and a half over Picaune Station WRJW at 9:15 on Saturday morning. Two months ago he began a program on Sunday morning at 9:15 over WGCM from Gulfport.

His home was near Boston, Mass., and he likes the Gulf Coast very much.

During the past two years he has made many friends on the Coast and in New Orleans.

VETERANS ASKED TO CASH LEAVE BONDS: BUY E'S

Hundreds of World War II veterans in Mississippi are holding Armed Forces Leave Bonds that have drawn no interest for five years or longer, and Uncle Sam would like to pay up—an average of $200 apiece.

We suggest these ex-G. I.'s who apparently don't need the money right now redeem these leave Bonds and put the money in Series E Savings Bonds, which pay 3 per cent interest compounded semi-annually when how to maturity of nine years and eight months.

In the country as a whole, 130,000 veterans hold Leave Bonds worth $26 million. These five-year bonds, carrying an interest rate of 2 1/2 per cent a year, were used to reimburse veterans for unused leave.

The last of these Bonds matured on October 1, 1951, and have drawn no interest since that date.

The Treasury would like to clear its books of this bond issue, and is calling on all veterans' organizations to help locate the 130,000 bond owners. When these bonds are cashed, there is no better place to put the money than in safe, sure, indestructible United States Savings Bonds.

The 144-page annual economic survey provides a comprehensive report on the progress of Mississippi and 14 other Southern States.

The Commercial Cotton Association
The cotton farmer of this country is in a predicament. It is necessary to reorganize at least a part of the world market. And this two price system is the only answer we know.
The second provision that will help the Mississippi farmer is one insuring a two-year freeze on the national cotton acreage. With allotments to individual states not to be decreased more than 1%. The acreage allotment of many of our farmers is already below the subsistence level, and we were threatened with a drastic further cut in the State's allotment for 1957. Under this new provision it is estimated that we will save about 150,000 acres. While this checks the threatened further below to the small farmer, it does not relieve his present plight. We, along with other Southern members, have contended that the only way to save the family farm is to provide a minimum allotment of five acres. Such a provision was in earlier cotton acreage laws, but we were out-voted on the current allotment act. We still believe that a five acre minimum family farm in a hill section is the only hope for survival of the family farm in a hill section like ours.

Classes To Start In Ground Observation

"Keep your eyes on the sky in Ground Observer Corps," says Mrs. Esther Oschmann, Publicity Director for Ground Observer Corps.

Here in America all of us pray for peace and pray that war can be averted. Many of us believe it can. But none of us can gamble on it.

Right now Russia has both the power and position to strike with more than 1000 long-range bombers based within flying distance of the United States.

In a single raid these planes could bomb top U. S. cities with millions of casualties.

These are not idle words of irresponsible "Alarmists" but facts that come from our own military leaders. That is why our Army Anti-aircraft batteries and Air Force interceptor planes are on 24 hour duty today, ready to combat attack at the first warning. But WARNING they must have!

Now can we Americans depend on Radar alone to flash warning. Our Radar Network is 10 miles high in the sky. It operates ceaselessly. But at the present time our Radar System good as it is, has its limitations, gaps through which aircraft could sneak, undetected.

Only the human eyes and ears can fill these gaps.

Now, you should understand why thousands of civilian volunteer plane spotters are urgently needed by the Ground Observer Corps. Right now too few petriotic citizens are doing a job the whole town should share.

Fathers and sons, mothers and daughters can serve together. Your time and effort can help lessen the threat of attack on our country and your eyes and ears can give early warning if attack should come.

All clubs and organizations should make this year their project.

Wake up! Sign up! Look Up!

Join up right now. Call Ken Whitfield, Civil Defense Director, phone 331; Mr. M. L. Hill, Ground Observer Office, phone 160; REA, Esther Oschmann, Pharmacist at Fahey Drug Co., phone 30.

Improvement Over
Fire Losses Shown

A report from Jarnow E. Smith, Fire Control Director of the Mississippi Forestry Commission, revealed today that the forest fire record for the state protected area during the month of April shows tremendous improvement over the fire losses of the previous month.

During April, 463 fires burned slightly more than 5,000 acres in the entire state while in March, 1340 fires scorched nearly 16,000 acres of forest land.

Smith said that in each of the 2 months there was one day on which not a single fire occurred anywhere in the state on protected acreage. Also, Smith said "there were seven days in March and nine days during April in which not more than nine fires were reported." "By being careful," Smith said, "low fire occurrence days such as these could be common-place in Mississippi throughout the year, and natural result in tremendously big savings to all the citizens of the State."

With two more months to go in this fiscal year, fire losses to date amount to slightly more than 95,000 acres. Smith said this is a big decrease compared to the average of the past several years.

Third Observance
Of Summer Traffic
Safety Campaign

The nation's annual summer traffic safety campaign will be launched May 30, Memorial Day, with Mississippi again pledging its support.

Aimed at curbing vacation and holiday accidents during accident-prone summer months Slow Down and Live has proven its value for three consecutive summers. Participation in the program this year will mark Mississippi's third observance.

According to Mississippi Commissioner of Public Safety Tom Scarborough, the Slow Down and Live campaign concentrates on traffic violations associated with speed—"in a hurry" drivers.

Already, the Highway Patrol has stepped up its radar traffic law enforcement, and will continue its drive against speeders throughout the summer. Nationally, more fatal accidents occur on the open highway during June and July than any months of the year.

Governor J. P. Coleman, joining with the 47 other governors supporting the Slow Down and Live program, has called on all Mississippi motorists to "slow down 'little'." To be successful, he explained April 17, this project needs complete and wholehearted public support from Memorial Day until Labor Day.

Local Student Ours
Reader's Digest Award

Carol Horton, valedictorian of the graduating class of Bay High School, has been given the annual Award of The Reader's Digest Association for students who by their successful school work give promise of attaining leadership in the community, it was announced today by Joe D. McCollough, principal.

Miss Horton will receive an honorary subscription to The Reader's Digest for one year and an engraved certificate from the Editors, "in recognition of past accomplishment and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

The Reader's Digest Association has presented these awards yearly in senior high schools throughout the United States and Canada to the highest honor student in the graduating class.

The award to Miss Horton who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Horton of 218 North Beach was made possible through the cooperation of Mr. McCollough and his teaching staff. They selected Miss Horton to receive the award, designed to stimulate scholarship, citizenship and continued contact with good reading after graduation.

MARINES TO FORM ALL
MISS. PLATOON IN JUNE

1st. Sgt. David P. Bailey, USMC, local Marine Recruiter for the Bay St. Louis area announced today that the Marine Corps would form an all-Mississippi Marine "Johnny Reb" Platoon during the month of June.

Plans call for the men from this area to leave for Jackson on June 20th, where they will join the Platoon. The Johnny Reb Platoon will join the Marine Corps as a group, leave Mississippi in a group, spend their entire recruit and advanced training as one unit, and will be known throughout the Marine Corps as the all-Mississippi "Johnny Reb" Platoon.

One of the high points of the platoon is that men may join the Marine Corps anytime prior to the 20th of June remain home until that date. Another feature of the plan is that men may join for two years, join with their friends and be assured of remaining together during their training period.

Young men interested in joining the "Johnny Reb" Platoon can obtain all information from Sgt. Bailey who will be at the County Court House every Thursday from 9 to 3 p. m.

WISH TO AVOID DROWNING?
THEN READ - NEED
THIS STORY

The first fishing trips and family outings of the season may be hectic affairs, but if you think you'll be able to spare 15 minutes for hearing a way to save yourself from drowning, paste this on the lid of your tackle box or picnic basket. Now, then, to details. Say that you are suddenly pitched into the water, from a capsized boat, fully clothed. Here is a step-by-step outline of what to do:

1. With lungs full, float face down. Just relax. The back of your neck will be out of the water.
2. Move your hands up, preparing for a downward thrust in the water. Make sure your mouth is empty.
3. Exhale through the nose while raising your face out of the water.
4. Make the downward thrust with hands or feet or both to clear the surface with your mouth. Inhale through your mouth, and when your lungs are full, sink back into the water.
5. You'll float again. Beginners can rest here for three seconds or so. Experts can rest 10 seconds. Then start the cycle again.

And there you are. This may have been 15 minutes well spent.

NATURAL GAS...

...important factor
in the production of

Brick and Tile

It may seem a far cry from natural gas to brick and tile, but here in the Gulf South where many plants manufacture these products, gas plays an important role. In the heating processes required, natural gas provides clean, even-temperature heat, producing better brick and tile... more economically.

To keep pace with the demands for their products, brick and tile companies need a continuous supply of dependable fuel. United Gas offers this great industry, and all other industrial plants located along its pipe lines, adequate, uninterrupted supplies of fuel the year around... an important factor in attracting industry to any community.
